OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM.

Reference:-- Memorandum No.5098 dated 11th June 1920 from the Officer Commanding Indian Station Hospital, Bangalore, intimating the existence of numerous mosquito breeding places in the neighbourhood of Koramangala tank.

The locality referred to in the above was inspected by the undersigned on the 15th and 17th June 1920 in company with the District Sanitary Officer, the Civil Officer and the Amildar of Bangalore Taluk, an officer deputed by Lieut-Col.Wall, I.M.S. being also present on the second occasion. The Sanitary Commissioner, who was requested to be present was good enough to respond. After discussing the whole question with all these officers, it was decided to consider the adoption of the following measures, suggested by the Military Officer already referred to:--

(1) The construction of a small "Katcha" channel in the big channel carrying the drainage and sewage water from Bangalore City to Koramangala tank and situated within a radius of ½ mile from the Civil and Military Station boundary in order that water may not stagnate there in pools and allow of mosquito breeding.

(2) The prohibition of fishing in the Koramangala tank, so that the fish may be retained there to eat up the mosquito larvae on the surface.

(3) Oiling the surface of the pools in the channel with Kerosine oil once in a month or two for the present in the area indicated.

(4) Co-operation by the District Sanitary Officer by meeting the Medical Officer, Indian Station Hospital, once a month on the last Saturday at about 5 P.M. in the Hospital to exchange ideas on the sanitary measures in progress.

2. The Executive Engineer will be requested to prepare an estimate for the 1st item which will be considered after receipt. The Amildar of Bangalore will take necessary steps to give effect to the 2nd and 3rd items, and the District Sanitary Officer in respect of item No.(4).
